

Arthrex Recognized as One of the 2022 Best Workplaces in Manufacturing & Production by Fortune, Great Place to Work®

(NAPLES, Florida - September 7, 2022) – Arthrex, the Naples-based global leader in minimally invasive surgical technology, has been named one of Fortune’s 2022 Best Workplaces in Manufacturing & Production. The company has four U.S.-based manufacturing facilities, located in Ave Maria, Florida, Sandy Springs, South Carolina, and Santa Barbara and Torrance, California. This is the seventh year Arthrex has been recognized with this distinction.

“We are grateful to the Arthrex team, particularly those employees on the frontline of our manufacturing and production operations,” said Arthrex Vice President of Manufacturing Andy Owen. “Each one is crucial to our mission of Helping Surgeons Treat Their Patients Better™ and commitment to producing innovative products in America that improve the quality of life for millions around the world.”

To determine the 2022 Fortune Best Workplaces in Manufacturing & Production list, Great Place to Work®, widely known as the global authority on workplace culture, analyzed anonymous survey feedback representing approximately 220,000 employees working in the manufacturing and production industry in the U.S. Employees responded to more than 60 survey questions anonymously rating their employers. Of the 4,700 employees at Arthrex who took the survey, 90% said Arthrex is a great place to work.

“To receive this honor for the seventh time is a testament to the very talented and dedicated employees who design, manufacture and distribute Arthrex products globally to our customers,” said Arthrex Senior Director of California Operations Bryan King. “While the manufacturing workplace worldwide has faced many challenges in recent years, our manufacturing teams have never waived from our core value of Making People Better and have remained Arthrex Proud.”
